Foreword

In our search for a theme for the 1957 "Penn", we became fascinated by the parade of the many hands which have played and are playing a great part in our high school life.....

The toiling hands of our forefathers ,

The helping hands of state officials ,

The building hands of architects ,

The moulding hands of teachers ,

The friendly hands of fellow students ,

The loving hands of parents , are joining forces to give us the best that life has to offer at William Penn High School.

With this in mind we chose as our theme ,

With These Hands.

"I am the Child

You hold in your hand my destiny,

You determine, largely, whether I shall succeed or fail.

Give me, I pray you, those things that make for happiness.

Train me, I beg you, that I may be a blessing to the world."

Our Parents

We dedicate this 1957 yearbook in the hopes that this humble expression of our gratitude and affection will serve as an indication of our awareness that this random harvest of growth, knowledge, and experience could not have occurred without your efforts and your prayers.

Our heartfelt thanks.

Further study, the same

I know each senior is happy to be standing upon the threshold of a long-sought objective--"graduation". Your years at Penn have provided you with many experiences, some of which have been pleasant and some unpleasant. That is life. "If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster and treat those two imposters just the same," then you will not have spent your years in vain.

I wish to congratulate the yearbook staff. Again, you have succeeded in doing a wonderful job in publishing "The Penn." Your success is the result of diligence and cooperation, two essentials in achieving any objectives.

Class History

It was a bright September morn, back in 1952, when most of the members of our class entered William Penn as 7th graders. Afraid? Yes. I would venture to say most of us were naturally scared. We had heard so much about Mr. Burford, that most of us would almost shiver when we saw him, or politely move out of his path by running.

This group was composed of individuals from different sections of High Point, not forgetting Randolph County and Florence. Although we were quite young, our first year made many indelible impressions on our minds.

In the fall of 1953, we returned with new vigor to accept the challenge of the offerings of the freshman curriculum. Most of us still felt a bit timid, as we had to get accustomed to the routine of changing classes each period, not to mention a different teacher for every class.

Returning for our Sophomore year, we found that our class had tapered off considerably. After observing the mortality rate of our class, some of us really began worrying.

Spring found us making plans for the "Sophomore Ball," which turned out to be quite an affair.

We went into our Junior year feeling we had our feet on the ground. We shall never forget how proud we felt when Carol Crawford, Shirley Foster, Shirley Lewis, Joana Miller, Betty Steele, Kathryn Tate, Lovie Tate, Richard Johnson, Myrtle Garlington, Girdene Pressley, Sarada Simmons, Barbara Smith, Charlie Simmons, and Robert Randleman were inducted into the two highest organizations of the school, the National Honor Society and the Crown & Scepter Club.

We feel we excelled in the lighter vein, with our most talked about "Junior and Senior Prom," given by our class for the Senior students. We were also happy to have a new member join our family, James Parks, of Galax, Virginia.

Days, weeks, and months flew by. Soon we found ourselves the important Seniors.

Graduation time draws still closer, and now we dread the thought of leaving acquaintances, close friends, and faculty members who have not only been our teachers but real friends.

Several seniors gave us many things of which to be proud. Herman Reese, was chosen by the Western District coaches to compete in an All-Star football game in Durham. Ruth Ann Watts reigned as "Miss William Penn" at the home-coming football game.

Thus it is with fond memory that we look back on the years spent at William Penn, for those of us who have the good fortune to win this battle look to the future with a desire to use the knowledge we have gained in tackling bigger and more complex problems.
